Service Resources for Mothering Sunday

Dear church family,

I will miss seeing you in person tomorrow in our services. However, as Archbishop Welby has said, the Church buildings may be closed, but the Church has NOT shut up shop. So we are inviting you to join in our worship at some point tomorrow, either on your own or with others in your household. You can choose to read out the prayers and readings, to listen to the songs we have selected on youtube, and to listen to two short talks by Peta and me, on our Mothering Sunday theme. We have aimed to make this an act of worship for all ages and hope that there will be something in it for everyone. We are sending it out on Saturday, so that we all can carve out some time for Sunday worship and maintain the pattern of our week if we so choose. Special thanks to our film maker, James Burrows.

PS – if you have ideas of other ways we can worship online together, please do let me know. Praying for God's rich blessing on our community, Carolyn

Sunday worship

Here are some resources for us to use in our worship tomorrow.

Firstly, there is an order of service attached to this email for you to follow.

Secondly, please click on this link <https://youtu.be/Q7JVt08L2D0> for the recorded part of the service.

Thirdly, in addition to the All Age worship service, we have some links here that you might like to use with children:

Extra notices

Just a reminder that we will be continuing with Anglican Morning Prayer on Mondays to Saturdays at 7.30 – 8.00am. If you are joining for the first time, please connect at 7.15 so that we can work out any technical issues.

Join us by pasting this link into your browser <https://zoom.us/j/562144741> You may need to download an app, if you have difficulties please send an email to Louise. We realise that 7.30 is an early start, so if you would prefer to join a virtual Evening Prayer please let me know and we will see if there is enough interest.
